Its Influence Upon the Home. The kindergarten child is helped to see his home in perspective and appreciate its value. He is made to feel that he is made to desire a share in the responsibility of the home.

He has something to contribute to the conversation and life of the home different from the contribution of the other members of the family, and his personality as an individual is strengthened.

As he becomes increasingly able to take care of himself and amuse himself, the work of others in these respects decreases.

He is often a child that is truly sunny and as beautiful as the kindergarten itself. He makes it, and often becomes a

T. P. A. JOTTINGS

By W. M. Jenkins, State Press Chairman

Good news comes from Houston, Texas, where the national convention will be held in 1914. President Carlton of post C Houston writes: "I notice state President Hardy has allotted 257 new members to post C during this year. Mr. Hardy will not be disappointed in his expectations. I have never seen such enthusiasm in the T. P. A. as there is now. What is the matter with Georgia? Why don't you get some work in conjunction with the state chairman?"

If it has been the custom to let T. P. A. work drag during the heated period why not break that custom and get up more enthusiasm? Appoint a committee of five men to carry up a membership campaign for the balance of the year. Until we have a majority of the traveling men on our side our influence in public affairs will not have the weight it should be. It is really effective.

Can anyone prove that a soul was ever lost? Tell the truth; what do you know about this saving business? If we are not saved for this world can we be saved for another? What we believe is quite a different proposition to what we know. We do know that we are in this world and should ever and ever strive to make those about us happy while in this world. Let everybody mix up and be friendly for this world. Yes a common fellowship. If you are not happy in this world we doubt the possibility of your happiness in another world.

Friendship is a peculiar thing; it permits some to do unto you what they would not be willing for you to do unto them.

The time is now at hand for each state, and more particularly Georgia, to organize its fair-weather campaign for new members. Will what we do give us the credit of holding ourselves in rank A or will it be class B? Time only can tell.

What a power is religion and friendship when joined together.

Affected goodness without being good, and modesty without being modest, is provoking and spells hypocrisy pure and simple. Let us be just what we are and try to help men to be good by praising them and speaking well of them. Show our friendship faith and hope in humanity by saying something good and stop telling the tip "I told you so." You don't know him as I do. "He thinks everybody is against him." "I heard it said somewhere he was cracked." "We have heard he would not do to trust" and many other mean things unworthy of you and the party talked about, all because you did not like him yourself and didn't want anyone else to like him. You have used the black ball on him, stood in his way to higher progress and with your influence and power have tried to keep him down. How then can you in the name of Him who was good, affect goodness. Turn a kindly smile and look aside to all.

If our worthy secretary would keep us posted as to what is going on in

Vice-Chairman of Convention

R. O. CROUCH, of Griffin, Ga.

R. O. Crouch, of Griffin, Ga., is a life made him visit Atlanta at the buying seasons for many years past. He is essentially a man of ideas, and it is always interesting to notice the close attention which is given by any business man when Mr. Crouch has a suggestion or two to make.

Mr. Crouch will be one of the principal figures of the convention, and it is the presence of such men as he at these meetings which assure their complete success and business-building value to all those who attend.

post B it would prove beneficial to the work. We get nothing but glory out of the hard work we are doing. We cannot always attend the post meetings, but the secretary can. Please, Mr. Secretary, let us know the number of applications written, settled, and un settled. We will, through The Constitution Firing Line, give publicity to that which should be of interest to all.

We are in receipt of many letters from merchants on the road stating they will be here next week by a large majority.

Why forsake this world that we now live in order to gain the good will of the skirt? Mother Earth is pretty good. If we could get mankind good enough to be just one toward the other.

After you have been friends with a man for a long time, enter with him, drink with him, walk with him, sit with him and have patting him on the back, do you think it is good policy to lie to him or about him?

Girl Asked for Mary Phagan's Pay But Was Refused by Frank

Miss Helen Ferguson, formerly employed at the National Penitentiary, but now working for Marcus Loeb and company, was the first state witness put on the stand Saturday morning. She proved to be a little girl in short dresses with her hair hanging in two braids down her back. Her eyes are blue as steel. On the stand she was rather timid and answered questions in an almost inaudible voice, but replied positively to each one. She was only kept on the stand about fifteen minutes.

For two years previous to the murder she declared that she had been working for the National Penitentiary.

"Did you see Frank on April 25, the Friday before the murder?" the solicitor asked after the usual introductory questions of her age and identity.

"Yes," she replied.

"At what time?"

"At about 1 o'clock in the evening."

"What was Frank for Mary Phagan?"

"Well, what did he say?"

"He told me that I couldn't get it that Mary would be in the office, and she could get it then alright."

"Did you ever see Mary Phagan's money for her before that?"

"Yes, on two occasions."

"From whom?"

"From other people there."

Mr. Loeb here took up the cross-examination.

"When you got the money before, didn't you?"

"Yes sir."

Chief Beavers Tells of Seeing Blood Spots on Factory Floor

Police Chief James L. Beavers followed Dr. Hoot on the witness stand. Mr. Hoot immediately asked him if he had been in the courtroom, as he had been named by the state when other witnesses were named, sworn and put under the rule. He replied that he had for a short time, and Dr. Hoot explained that in the beginning of the case he had no intention of using him.

"Were you present at the National Penitentiary on the Monday following the slaying of the dead girl?" asked Mr. Hoot.

"I was there not on Monday, I was there on Tuesday," he replied.

"Did you see the area of the floor around the girl's dressing room?"

Mr. Hoot then arose and declared that he did not think that the court had been in as a witness merely on a statement that at the time the chief of witnesses were sworn and put under the rule, he did not see the area of which he asked.

"After Mr. Beavers further parley Judge Roan allowed him to go on testifying.

"Well, did you examine the area of which I asked?"

"Yes."

"What did you see?"

"I saw spots of blood."

"What size?"

"There was a spot about the size of a quarter and there were several smaller spots leading towards the door."

"Toward the blood?"

"Well, it was just ordinary blood. Mr. Arnold then took up the cross-examination.

"Hoot, the spots being chipped up early Monday?"

"Well, I think that they had, but I know that I was there when they were chipped up."

"You must have been there and seen them on Monday then, rather than on Tuesday?"

"Maybe so, I may be mistaken about the exact day."

DORSEY PLEASED WITH PROGRESS

Solicitor Will Put Dr. Roy Harris on the Stand Again on Next Tuesday Afternoon.

While Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey declined to make an expression of what he believed would be the outcome of the case against Leo M. Frank, who has been prosecuting all the week, he expressed himself yesterday afternoon as thoroughly satisfied with the present progress.

The solicitor held an extended conference immediately after court adjourned with his assistants, E. A. Stephens and with Attorney Frank A. Hoot, who is conducting the case together with the lawyers went over what had been done and mapped out their program for the coming week.

With the attorneys were detectives J. N. Starnes and Pat Campbell and others who have assisted in gathering up the evidence and working the preparation of the case.

Dorsey Well Pleased.

The solicitor asked for his opinion of the outcome, based on the evidence he had already placed before the jury and on what he expected to use before he closes his case.

He decided to say what he thought about the case, but stated that so far he was well pleased and satisfied with what had been done.

"Will you put Jim Canaday on the stand this week?" he was then asked.

"Well, I'm not in a position to decide now whether I will or not," he replied.

It is the general belief, however, that the solicitor intends to use Canaday's testimony to prevent it, should nothing unforeseen prevent it.

The state has been successful in its attempt to compel the testimony of failure to testify in sufficient to prevent the solicitor from being able to make a definite statement one way or the other.

During the afternoon Mr. Dorsey called Dr. Roy Harris on the telephone and made arrangements for him to continue his testimony at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon.

He was then on the stand all day and during his testimony, which it considered exceedingly strong for the state was compelled to leave on account of his illness.

Mr. Harris Monday.

He stated Saturday that he would probably be ready to appear Monday and complete his statement.

The state has several witnesses whom it intends to put up and among them will probably be Detective Bruce, who has been in the case since called Saturday. Police Sergeant L. S. Noble was also called Saturday.

He was not present, but he has been in the stand already for the state and it is not known whether he will appear on his second appearance.

The state has other witnesses. It is said, whose identity is yet a secret but who will be called upon during the week part of the week.

It is also known that the state will expert to allow his testimony to be taken.

It will be the action of the defense during the present week is a careful secret. It has been generally said during the week that the state will not go on before the jury and will let the defense witness.

This has been done in some of the most talked of trials in the country and some Atlanta attorneys are of the opinion that such will be the procedure in the Frank case.

Character Witnesses Ready.

That group of Frank's closest friends and associates in business and social life have been formally summoned to the stand to testify to his character. They will be called upon during the week part of the week.

It is expected that a man, even conversant to make his character in the case, will be called upon during the week part of the week.

It is also expected that a man, even conversant to make his character in the case, will be called upon during the week part of the week.

CONGRESS MAY PROBE COPPER REGION STRIKE

Strikers Complain of Army of Imported Guards—Cases of Intimidation.

Calumet, Mich., Aug. 2.—(Special.)—Further union appeals to Governor Ferris for personal investigation of the copper miners' strike were made today and were followed tonight by an intimidation of the industrial situation. Union officials said they could make a prime fact showing at least equal to that of the United Mine Workers, which resulted in the senatorial hearing in West Virginia. The Western Federation of Miners will move to suit more unless the continued efforts of Governor Ferris fail to effect a settlement.

The unions claimed tonight that the mine was a strike, and that a veritable army of guards to take the place of state troops, such action it was claimed could result only in a reign of terror.

INDUSTRIAL INDEX PRINTS SUPPLEMENT ON LAGRANGE

LaGrange, Ga., August 2.—(Special.)—The Industrial Index, a financial and industrial publication of the south, published every Thursday, carries this week an extra supplement on LAGRANGE during the past twelve months. The supplement is one of unusual interest as it demonstrates what can be done by a live chamber of commerce organization, keeping steadily on the job.

In the editorial section of the Index, a glowing tribute to the organization and effective work of the LaGrange chamber of commerce, pointing out the many practical and readily available results of its work.

The chamber of commerce has distributed for 1,000 copies of the maximum section of the publication and will send them broadcast over the nation. The editor of The Index sent a representative to LaGrange to investigate conditions at that point, and he was so impressed that he reported back to the office that it would be a fitting example for southern people to have. The Index show up in magazine form the remarkable progress of LaGrange under the direction of its well organized and efficiently handled chamber of commerce.

WHISKY BY HATFULL STARTS BACCHANALIA AT GRIFFIN STATION

Griffin, Ga., August 2.—(Special.)—There was unusual excitement at the local railway station yesterday over a leaking package of rare old whisky. Several negroes almost came to blows in a mad rush to get one good drink before it all was gone.

One of the sensations of the trial was the fact that a negro wearing a derby, Mr. Place, had been seen at the station and soon had a large drink. He repeated this, but on the second attempt was given a knock-out blow by another, brutally inclined negro, who drove him down beneath the stream and was soon all but blind with drink. In the meantime several fights were in progress. About this time a three-thronging fellow with a red nose and a straw hat came up in a minute he disappeared.

Chief Hurst Resigns.

Griffin, Ga., August 2.—(Special.)—Chief of Police Hurst has given to the city council his resignation from the position of chief of the fire department. He has been holding that position for fifteen years and has been Georgia's longest serving chief of the small city. Although his resignation will not take effect until the next meeting of the council, which is ten days off.

British military authorities have developed for use in India a telephone cable which weighs but seven pounds and is so made that it can be laid in a minute he disappeared.

BULGARIA REFUSES TO PAY AN INDEMNITY

Counter Proposals Submitted at Peace Conference—Agreement Is Expected.

London, August 2.—Bulgaria's refusal to pay an indemnity to the allies at the Balkan peace conference, according to a telegraphic dispatch from Bucharest, submitted to the Exchange Telegraph company.

The Bulgarian proposals stipulate that the frontier line shall start at the old Bulgarian boundary and run through the town of Kumanovo, and then by way of Mostov, Genchova and Kishinev to the town of Brest, and then by way of the Gulf of Orsova to the Gulf of Danube.

Such a frontier would give Bulgaria possession of the towns of Kumanovo, Mostov, Genchova, and Kishinev. Bulgaria declined to recognize the allies' claim for an indemnity, or to enter into any negotiations concerning the subject.

Bulgaria's Maximum Demand.

Bucharest, Rumania, August 2.—Bulgaria's counter proposal presented at the Balkan peace conference here today is regarded as constituting her maximum demand, and consequently, the settlement in some extent is considered certain.

Peace will be signed, according to the opinion expressed in diplomatic circles, on the basis that points on which an agreement cannot be reached, shall be reserved for decision by the great powers.

Woman's Constructive Work Must Go on Whether She Votes or Not

By Mrs. Walter D. Lamar, President Georgia Division, U. D. C.

"Women must continue in the constructive work they have been doing through organization, whether or not the responsibility of suffrage is added," said Mrs. Walter D. Lamar, of Macon, president of the Georgia Division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, during a brief visit to Atlanta this week.

"It is a visionary idea many women have that with the vote all their former responsibility and activity in public matters will cease. On the contrary, more than ever will women need organization when they have the vote; otherwise their entire machine, which has been in the making so long, and which has accomplished great things, will stand for naught, and they will have no medium through which they can pull together. It will be a power no one can doubt when, with their unquestioned influence and their organization, both tried and proven, they can combine the vote; but of the three qualifications for usefulness never would I discount the power of the influence and the organization."

A Realistic Statement.
This statement from Mrs. Lamar is significant, shows few women in the state have rendered more valuable service in public matters than she. She represents the type to whom political responsibility must be entrusted.

Not only as president of the Georgia Division of the Confederacy has she done active and laudable work, but in many organizations making for constructive social work along many lines she has been most prominent.

While visiting in one of the social settlements of Macon in early March, she was thrown from her horse, her injuries requiring a long sojourn in a hospital. Since her return to her home in Macon in June she has taken up the making of the program of the annual convention of the Daughters of the Confederacy to hold this year in Macon, Ga. She is in her day's service in public matters than she.

The Way Women Can Work.
She has studied the woman question thoroughly and sees the suffrage issue from many angles. Therefore her opinion of woman's constructive work in Georgia, discussing the activity of Georgia women of the present, Mrs. Lamar said.

The clarity and strength displayed in the recent interview with women as given in The Constitution, bearing upon the live topics before the state legislature, is a happy acquirement to the power and diversity shown in the Woman's Edition of The Constitution on Macon in June, this edition a striking example of woman's organization and its value.

It is pointed out that suffrage is the influence exerted by women of the right type from time immemorial, and I believe it will always be more effective than the use of the ballot alone.

U. S. Senator Treatise Woman's Edition of Constitution.

"I felt a great pride in the achievement of Georgia women in the edition of The Constitution, when its praise was found in my own state. A few years ago by the distinguished senator, now in the U. S. Senate, in conversation with this leader of Macon, who has so long and so ably represented her state, he said with great sincerity: 'What a wonderful work this woman's edition, published by the Georgia women in organization. I read it carefully and every part of it is admirable.'"

Mrs. Lamar's idea that women must work on undisturbed by the issue so arising. In the demand for suffrage, a time and rational one. The vote is an incident, which many may want, and are valiantly pleading for, and which may prove to be, when it does come, a power for betterment in many directions, but until it does come, women should not be drawn from the steady and splendid work they have been forwarding, but go on with their activities, and be the better ready when the political responsibility is added to the others.

GOSSIP OF GEORGIANS IN THE METROPOLIS

By R. B. Carver, The Constitution's New York Bureau.

New York, August 2.—(Special.)—Mrs. Tom Pierce has a new chum. Mrs. Effie Alsop, the twenty-year-old Washington, Ga., girl who a year ago married Edward B. Alsop, a Pittsburgh steel millionaire, has been visiting in New York. Mrs. Pierce, in her own age, thereby acquiring a place on the North Shore, and so, Harvard men, older than herself, have been adopted by Mrs. Pierce, one of the most interesting North Shore society women.

They are neighbors and under Mrs. Pierce's wing Mrs. Alsop is beginning to take a prominent place in North Shore social gatherings. Mrs. Pierce is living at the Rodgers estate, and by a curious coincidence her former husband, Thomas W. Pierce, and his wife, Mrs. Pierce, are together every morning on a horseback ride for a spin in one of the automobiles. The afternoon sees them at some function or dinner through the beautiful North Shore roads. Usually there is a dip at some one of the beaches. In the evening, at bridge or dining, they are apt to be together.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY

All the News of Real Estate and Building

The past week has seen few large transfers in the realty field yet the volume of business transacted has been large enough to indicate a bright future.

A number of sales agencies have added rental departments in the past week and this looking on as an indication of a big increase in rental business during the next twelve months.

Among the latest to add this department is the firm of P. W. & B. W. at 130-132 Peachtree. Besides handling general rentals this firm will make a specialty of store leases and will make several important announcements in the near future in this line.

East Ninth Avenue Sale.
J. A. Perry has sold to E. W. R. Brown through the Barrett Realty company No. 108-110 East Ninth avenue for a separate consideration of $15,000. Mr. Brown will occupy the premises for a store and will make several important announcements in the near future in this line.

Sale in Druid Hills.
Mrs. E. H. Cantrell has purchased from Mrs. A. H. Cantrell No. 135 lot with a new house on the south side of Peachtree, near the intersection of Peachtree and Peachtree street, for $15,000. The property is being handled by the Barrett Realty company.

Removes to New Location.
J. B. Thompson has taken out a permit for the erection of a new story brick building on Peachtree street between Peachtree and Peachtree street. The first floor will be used for a store and the two upper floors as bachelor apartments.

Sale in Midtown.
J. A. Hall, Jr. has sold to Mrs. C. H. R. a six-room house at 135 Peachtree street, near Peachtree street, for $15,000. The property is being handled by the Barrett Realty company.

Big Warehouse Deed.
John W. Alexander has conveyed to J. H. Hirsch the northwest corner of Peachtree street and Peachtree street, for $15,000. The deed has been recorded.

On Peach Street.
Mrs. M. P. Scott has sold to J. H. Hirsch a six-room house at 135 Peachtree street, near Peachtree street, for $15,000. The property is being handled by the Barrett Realty company.

Executive Question in Up.
It is said that a number of members of the legislature have been previously indicted in an attempt to secure the passage of a bill in the Georgia legislature.

Building in Subdivisions.
For the past month a large volume of building permits have been issued by the city of Atlanta for the construction of subdivisions.

Opportunity for Investors.
One of Atlanta's most prominent real estate men has been seen in the city in the past few days in the city of Atlanta.

Property Transfers.
A number of property transfers have been recorded in the city of Atlanta in the past few days.

Read the Want Ads and Learn Something to Your Advantage

The "Want Ad" pages of The Constitution have many things to tell you. No matter what you are interested in—whether you want to rent a flat or rent a house—or buy one—they will guide you quickly and correctly.

If you want a typewriter at a reduced price, or an automobile, or a motorcycle, or any one of a hundred useful and pleasurable things, you will find it among the "Want Ads."

The people of Atlanta—during the course of the year—have many things to buy and sell. Like as not you will run across an ad asking for something you have stored in the attic which you'd be willing to sell.

Or you will discover something that you have always wanted, but which you thought you could not afford. Only way you can be sure of discovering these opportunities is to become a regular reader of the "Want Ad" pages. Read them in the future even more thoroughly than you have in the past.

If you have anything you want to convert into money, or some particular thing you want to buy, get up an ad of your own and

WHAT THE WILD WAVES ARE SAYING

WELCOME.

It isn't an everyday occurrence to be able to say "Welcome" to four thousand of the best and most representative of Georgia's merchants. We are proud of the opportunity.

To say nothing of the big crowd of Atlanta traveling salesmen who will be here to see that the guests of the city receive the best of all possible good time.

To our mind, the traveling salesmen are the best of the best. They are the ones who meet a bunch of merchants such as will begin to arrive tomorrow morning. They have guests who are worthy of their best efforts.

Talk about a good time! Doesn't it make your mouth water? Theater parties, barbecues (O you Little! refections, ball games, and—those talkative sure a treat for the gods on high Olympus. What more could a wise and progressive merchant want?

Be the wit, those meeting meetings, when all the boys get together to talk about the things in their daily business life which sometimes puzzle them and which need the combined strength of many minds to solve will certainly be one of the most interesting features of the big time. They say that if a man takes one good look away from a convention of the kind he will be a well-to-do man. In this case, the man who doesn't take away at least a dozen good ideas will be letting his opportunity slip.

An Atlanta business man attended a convention in Philadelphia last year at which he got two ideas. When he returned to Atlanta he immediately put them into practice in his own business and now, at the end of one year's time, he knows how they have "been worth $1000" to him in "old cash money" talks and a wise man listens.

Good salesmanship is just about the most important thing in the world of a good salesman. It is only careful observation and continued effort that will make him a successful salesman. The man who doesn't do so doesn't get the opportunity.

stand much chance of success in this business which we call life.

Well, to revert to the original topic, the merchants are coming. They have sent in their notes of acceptance by the thousand and it is now up to Atlanta to see that they go away with the double determination to come again next year and to bring a neighbor with them. In a few years the merchant who does not come to Atlanta every buying season in order to participate in the good time and to look over the new ideas in merchandise and merchandising will be regarded in the same way as the merchant is now regarded who has to hang a bull on his door in order to wake up when a customer enters his store.

To Be or Not to Be.

I sometimes think I'd rather crow And be a rooster, than to roost And be a crow. But I dunno.

A rooster he can roost alone, Which don't seem fair when crows Can't crow.

Which may help some. Still I dunno. Crows should be glad of one thing (though):

Nobody thinks of eating crow. While roosters, they are good enough. For any one, unless they're tough.

There's lots of tough old roosters, though.

And, anyway, a crow can't crow. So maybe roosters stand more show— It looks that way. But I dunno.

YOUNG-SMYTH-FIELD COMPANY Philadelphia, Pa.

We are pleased to advise that the above firm have permanent sample rooms at 205-206-207 Gould Building under the management of E. T. Roane and E. M. Lunceford.

Both Mr. Roane and Mr. Lunceford will be in the city for the "Southern Merchants' Convention," and solicit the patronage of all Merchants.

Of course, everyone knows what the Young-Smyth-Field Company sell, but for fear there should be some Merchant who "hasn't went out much," will say that you will find the most complete line you have ever seen of Hosiery, Underwear, Gloves, Ladies' Shirt Waists, House Dresses, Gents' Furnishings, White Goods, including Towels and Table Linens, Laces, Embroideries and Fancy Notions.

Come to see us.

Tomorrow is the opening day. Everything is ship-shape for the visiting merchants and everybody is happy.

Thousands of keen eyes are going to be on Atlanta the next two weeks. She's going to be inspected from every point of vantage—her stores, her factories, her industries. More than that:

The quality of her hospitality is going to be scrutinized. The sincerity of her glad-handing is going to be put to the test.

It is up to every Merchant, every Manufacturer, every Citizen of Atlanta to make our guests believe more strongly than ever before in the Atlanta Spirit.

And you Merchants who are going to make Atlanta your Mecca during the next two weeks—come right in and make yourselves at home. We are unfeignedly glad to greet you and we hope that you will have the time of your lives.

Don't fail to ask questions and to see what you want to see. Let "Show Me" be your slogan. Take things just as easily or just as strenuously as your constitution dictates.

Make a mental note before you strike the town of the things that you are most interested in. Then when you get ready, you'll know just where to go and what to do.

Be sure to reserve plenty of time for the recreational features of the Convention. Baseball, barbecue, theater parties, receptions and drives are some of them. Don't skip these—they're going to be jolly.

Do just as much business as you like. Atlanta loves to combine work and play, and you'll find plenty of willing listeners if you want to Talk Shop. It's quite possible that you could make your trip a Free Proposition if you talked shop sufficiently. Talk to Secretary Harry T. Moore about this point.

But whatever you do, be very sure that this is going to be a great affair, and that all Atlanta is glad to have you come and share in its privileges and its pleasures.

FASHION has decreed sash and here it is shown in several of its latest developments.

The oddly designed coat-dress of changeable violet tulle, shown on the left, is padded with gray colored silk in yellow and purple. The sleeves match the girdle and the white collar and cuffs are of corded silk.

Blue ribbed crepe was selected for the skirt and frock. The skirt is scalloped down the front and buttoned with white satin buttons, and long satin bound buttonholes. The sash girdle is frilled above and below, and ties in the front. The ravers and vest are of white satin, the latter being scalloped and trimmed with blue enamel buttons.

The third model has the blouse and double tunic of yellowish crepe de Chine, closely pleated, while the undershirt of white crepe de Chine is gathered at the waist, giving a comfortable fulcrum. The deep collar and the cuffs are of fine button, bananished and edged with Chung-tan. The black satin sash tie is a broad bow with two long ends, weighted with tassels.

The dainty little frock of palest pink baton has a sash of deeper rose silk as its only trimmings.

When He Met Wilde. Lord Alfred Douglas, who was 21 when first he met their Wilde, and who was to become the passionate son of the eighth Marquis of Queensberry, and the younger brother of the poet, was then a student at the same time in America, and it was the effort made by his father to put an end to the love war, by sending Oscar Wilde that led to the famous trial which ended in the latter's imprisonment. It was the first time that the two met in 1892, or while Lord Alfred Douglas, who already had become a poet, was a student at the University of Chicago, where he was a graduate at Macaulay College, Illinois. For the three years that intervened between the time that the two met, Wilde's career, the young sonneteer and the brilliant dramatist and poet, had been a meteoric rise to the apex of his fame, were inseparable, often sharing the same magazine, the same reviews, the same dinners, suppers and similar entertainments, and that if justice had been done, many of Wilde's most famous plays would have been written under the pseudonym "By Oscar Wilde and Alfred Douglas."

He is a little, old-world street-wise fellow, with London's most "literary" (historic) and "intellectual" most beautiful boulevard, the Strand, and quite recently also the Strand, as the abiding place of another literary celebrity in the person of H. G. Wells, the novelist. Parley also lived in Lord Alfred's house.

Almost everywhere, Parley also can remember Lord Alfred has been mixed up with the literature of another generation in connection with the old Wilde and Oscar Wilde. Parley also has found him an embodiment of fastidiousness and pedantry with the most intense, balanced of chips on his shoulder.

Good-Humored Boy

He proved, however, to be just a "big kid" who was "a little bit" like Alvin Karpis, simple and good-humored boy. He looks the runner and skillful thief, but he is not. He is a literary work, and who generally leaves the impression of having lived a life of quietude and contentment, having less than his share of the worst of this existence. Besides his literary work, he has been a frequent writer declared the other day entitled him to a place beside the finest of writers. He has been a frequent publisher, not only of light verse and parody in the pseudonym of "The Editor," but also of serious works, or, until quite recently, he was editor and sole owner of that really excellent publication, The Academy.

Lord Alfred's forthcoming book will be a masterpiece, a masterpiece, and he has nothing to confess. When mentioned as his motive, after so long a time, he said, "I have been public the story of his association with the Karpis gang, and I am a tolerant good humor, and there was a little bit of Karpis in his eyes and bitterness in his mind."

To Clear His Name.

"I am writing this book," he said, "to clear his name."

LORD DOUGLAS of 20.

Because the allegations against him were made by a person who was not responsible, and in addition, at last found men with as much authority of having known either the clergyman through, not to say they have been set down as a man of straw, and the action of Oscar Wilde as a man of straw, I suppose the detailed action which I recently brought to the notice of the House of Commons in the "Life of Oscar Wilde" the other day, was not the only action which the evil influence perpetrated by him by means of the "Ravens" downfall, are still fresh in most of our minds. I feel that each of us should lose it. (Hear, hear.)

Of what assistance is this? I do not care to be married to a woman and steel, two literary characters together put almost any man to shame. It is in this position that I stand, and on him."

Lucifer, John, and Maxine are the pitiful victims of a cruel and unscrupulous country who have been taken from their country for Manuel and the monarchy. They were not asked to fight in the war, they have never seen a day through the eyes of a soldier, and they have never been through the terrible hardships of the war. They have been taken from their country and are now in a foreign land, where they are being treated as prisoners of war. They are being held in a prison, where they are being treated as prisoners of war. They are being held in a prison, where they are being treated as prisoners of war. The workroom was a good-sized room with plenty of air and sunshine and vastly superior to the workrooms in the factories in whose wholesale tailoring establishments in the city the workers, with which, as I am personally familiar, I have been connected for many years. I visited the common workroom of those who are engaged in furniture making and wood work of all kinds. Some of the political prisoners prefer to work in the wood shop and several of them I visited. One in particular was very friendly and showed me how the Teachers are brought in every day to instruct the prisoners in the trade. He said that this particular prisoner had had seven lessons in wood work and was about to be the first piece of work he had done and then, with the carving he was to do at work on. A comparison of the two received an amazing prospect of success. The system of the prisoners is sold and the workmen are entitled to one-third of the amount obtained for his production. In a month, however, he was given to him immediately, but produced in his services, and the first trial was a magnificent success. He was given an incentive of one-third of the amount obtained for his production, but to good work as well.

Worst Hated Slave. However, the Duke of Clarence, the governor of the penitentiary, accompanied him to the prison and pointed out to several changes he had made since he took the institution over from the monarchy. He showed me the old water pumping installation by which the prisoners, with much labor, were formerly compelled to raise the water for the kitchen and third floor cells. Then he took me to the engine

The first Southern league was organized in 1888, and the season was over before all points of view. But the "rough-neck" element was in the saddle and the New Orleans Pelicans began a frame-up to dominate the tips on Rucker because I'd been setting a lot. But I'm obliged to say that I'm glad I got him. He looks like a wonder to me if he fails to develop into one of the best left-handers in the game. I don't know pitcher when I see one."

It begins to look as though F. Clarke's little party might be a success. But can't maintain it is enough to damage the leaders. They have assumed the in and out of the law's reach to the brand of baseball.

Knicker's Brief Story.

Knicker's brief career was a success. He was a bricklayer by trade, and although left-handed, he manipulated the tro with his right hand and attended the bricks with his left, which developed the strongest fingers and thumb ever seen on a pitcher's hand.

But oddly enough, he met his Waterloo just as the spit ball began to be used. The fingers of the hand were too strong to be used in the same way as the other hand.

IN THE TRENCHES

Brown, Peterson & Greene will be represented in the city during the convention by A. N. Jensen, J. A. Thompson, C. L. Johnson, J. P. Tate, W. A. Slater, J. P. Jenkins, L. S. Peterson, J. M. Walker, Jr., J. H. Martin and J. H. Bates.

H. E. Jessup, with the Lamar and Harkins shoe company, is back on the job after last Monday after his two weeks vacation.

Walter Richards, of the S. P. Richards company, is back from his vacation, and will manage with the convention visitors all next week.

N. K. Smith, selling Battle Axe shoes for the Stephen Paine shoe company, of Richmond, Va., in Georgia, says that he and his firm have gotten out over 1500 invitations to merchants to visit their display during the merchants convention. The line will be on exhibit at the Kimball hotel, in charge of Mr. Smith and R. T. Hancock, from the house. Longhouse Paine, president of the company, and other officers may be here during the convention. For over ten years Mr. Smith has made large sales twice a year by inviting these merchants up to Atlanta.

Williams & Meyer, of Baltimore Md. have opened their new shoe rooms in the Argon hotel, in charge of E. M. Williams. They will be here for about two months and have taken eighteen large rooms to display their line. This consists of holiday goods and novelties, and is one of the best of its kind.

E. E. Shyer, with the Consolidated Paper company, came in Saturday with a nice bunch of orders.

The B. P. Richards company were moving on Friday because they had passed their record in the stationary department for the month of July, when record was established in July, 1912.

The Atlanta Paper company are throwing their entire plant open to the visiting merchants next week, and it is expected that quite a number will take this opportunity to see the wonders of modern paper and its products.

The Rice & Hulett shoe company of Atlanta, have called all their salesmen in for the convention, and are expecting a big business. They have a number of especially attractive lines to offer the merchants which they have made special for the occasion.

Bill Quarles broke up housekeeping last Thursday and went to boarding. The true reason is not known for certain, but it is rumored that since Bill's recent pedestrian activities, his appetite has been so large that Mrs. Quarles refused to provide meals to him any longer.

H. J. Atwood, with McCord-Stewart company, has returned from a two weeks trip to New York and is out on his territory again. H. A. McConald will return this week from the Wisconsin convention in Toronto, and will be with his trade again the latter part of the week.

J. L. Shipp, sales manager for Robert M. Green & Sons, has just returned from Atlantic City. He spent several days there and then jumped into Brunswick, Ga., and closed a nice fountain deal this week.

Pain & Stamps are just in receipt of a letter from J. C. Owens. He writes from his home in Concord, Ga., and announces that he will be on vacation there for the coming week. He states that he will spend his mornings at preaching and the afternoon out fishing. Those who know Mr. Owens will realize that his mornings will be the times when he will enjoy himself, but he will probably rest better in the afternoons.

J. C. Mason, with the Consolidated Paper company, will be in the city for the convention week, meeting his customer friends.

J. L. Nibbel, in the office for the E. L. Adams company, returned from his vacation last Monday after putting in most of the time at Piedmont lake.

The Dougherty-Little-Redwine company salesmen who will be in the city for the convention are A. M. Wilkins, F. B. Shaw, A. S. Wilkins, J. M. McRibbin, J. O. Castlebury, T. L. Barron, G. O. Jefferson and P. S. Dunlap.

The A. M. Robinson company will have the following of their men in for the convention: W. P. Sewell, C. A. Smith, R. L. Smith, C. P. 1912, T. S. Broadnax, W. S. Jones, Percy W. Harris, L. A. Barrow, J. L. White, M. M. Stansland, L. B. Robinson, W. E. Mathews, J. W. Kae, E. J. Smith, A. B. Harris and L. B. Robinson.

The J. K. Orr shoe company will be represented by the following salesmen to wait on their visiting guests: J. W. Bates, W. D. Becham, James Mosser.

For the Bathing Maid

SATIN is the material above all others for the really smart bathing suit this season. Mohair is still used by the woman who prefers service to the height of fashion, and a few tulle suits are seen, but this latter fabric is not as popular for the purpose as it once was, as it has been found to split easily after it has been one or twice immersed in salt water. By long odds the most popular color for the bathing suit is black, as it combines so effectively with the bright silks and satins that are now used for trimmings. Some maidens are still partial to blue in various shades, as suits of this color are also seen, as well as frock costumes of white satin, bright red and Nell rose.

Nearly all the suits are cut in the one-piece Russian blouse style, with separate bloomers or tight. This blouse comes just to the knees and is fastened loosely with a belt or sash. A very pretty suit is of black satin, fastening invisibly at the side of the front. It has a Balkan sash of gay striped silk that goes twice around the waist and knots at the left side. Another just as effective is of black satin, laced down the front with silk lacings in a vivid shade of Nell rose. It has a sash of satin of the same color. More modest, but still extremely smart is a black satin suit with a rather loose collar and garnitures of fancy black and white silk. A suit of bright blue has an odd yet effect in white satin, and another in navy has curious rounded revers and trimmings of white satin.

Bathing caps are so pretty this year that they deserve a chapter to themselves. They are mostly made of satin of gay colors, with rosettes at each ear, or in demure Dutch effect, or trimmed with gay ribbon standing off at the back like the hats, or made of combinations of plain and fancy satins.

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE AND RENT.

A HARBINGER OF PROSPERITY

THE SEASON'S first bale of cotton has just been delivered at Albany, Ga., and sold for 17 cents per pound.

This means much to the South.

It means much to the State of Georgia.

It means much to Atlanta.

What is more, Secretary McAdoo has just announced that Uncle Sam is to deposit $50,000,000 in the Southern banks to assist them in financing the South's great cotton crop. We consider this the most important act of the Wilson Administration, and believe that it will result in great benefits to all sections of our country. Verily, the Wall Street croakers have croaked their last croak.

Bringing the matter home to us, we are reliably informed that the Atlanta banks are to be favored with a liberal portion in the distribution of the Government deposits.

What does it all mean?

To the wise investor, we say most emphatically, it means that NOW is the time to BUY.

With bountiful crops assured, and plenty of money in sight to finance them; with the world consuming more and more of the South's fleecy staple as the years go by; we candidly believe that this city is entering an era of great prosperity, and that there is soon to be a great enhancement in realty values.

Let this remind you that we have listed with us the most central unimproved lot in the city, and at a price that will net the purchaser a handsome profit within the next few years.

MANAGER STUDEBAKER CO.'S AUTO DIVISION

Big Corporation Places Clarence H. Booth in Full Charge of Auto Manufacture.

In the appointment of Mr. Clarence H. Booth as general manager of the automobile division of the Studebaker corporation, the directors of that great company have once more clearly recognized merit and promotion well deserved.

Mr. Booth, whose appointment has just been announced, has been closely identified with the expansion of the Studebaker automobile business since its development began.

His entry into auto business, in the days when, as the P.M.P. company, the new automobile organization, was making tremendous advances, Mr. Booth was operating as an independent agent representing a Detroit, known as the French Street, automobile company, and a fact-finding mission and other similar parties.

As a result, Mr. Booth's factory and his plant in the fast-growing Studebaker town.

Mr. Booth himself, however, has been in charge of his old factory, the time there was also laid down. He has been in the Studebaker plant since 1905, and immediately after the purchase of the plant.

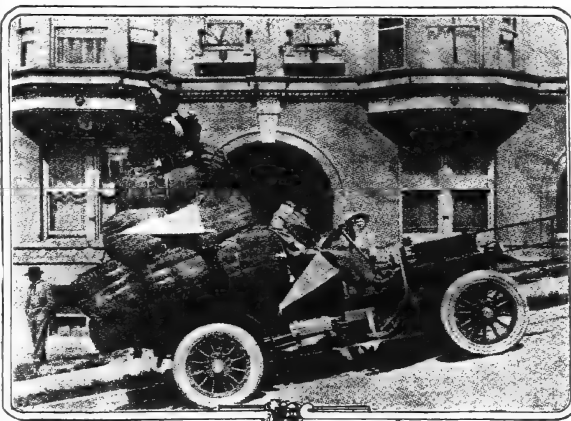

He has again demonstrated his ability and in no great time becoming manufacturing manager of the Studebaker automobile division. Within a year he has achieved another promotion, this time to become assistant general manager, and it is from this position, whose duties have been fittingly discharged, that he has just stepped into the highest responsibility—that of general manager of the automobile division.

Within four years the men under his direct charge have increased in number from 3,000 to 10,000.

Nothing is known of Mr. Booth's future plans except that he has the full confidence of the Studebaker interest, and also, of a mutually strong organization, so that no radical changes are expected.

Mr. Booth, who is essentially a manufacturer, will have charge of the task of producing 20,000 Studebaker automobiles a year, of value averaging $45,000,000.

New Buick Truck Eats Up Hills in the West

Mr. McCutcheon, southern district manager of the Buick Motor Co., Atlanta, received the following story from the local Buick dealer, Seattle, Wash.

A few automobiles, particularly commercial models have received the enthusiastic reception accorded the 1,000-pound Buick truck which arrived in Seattle last week.

It is now stated on good authority that a third dividend of 32 per cent will be paid creditors of the Seattle Manufacturing company within a short time, a 10 per cent dividend having been made in July. The first payment was 25 per cent, which made it clear that creditors will realize not less than 75 per cent in all.

BIG YEAR PREDICTED FOR THE CADILLAC CO.

Plan on Increasing Output of Popular Cars From 15,000 in 1913 to 18,000 in 1914.

Cadillac executives are convinced that the season just opening will be the most successful in the history of their concern and that, as heretofore each year, there will not be enough cars to fill the demand. The output will be increased from 15,000 in 1913 to 18,000 in 1914.

AROUND LAKE MICHIGAN IN CYCLE CAR CONTEST

Chairman Root Issues Notice That Tour Will Start From Chicago on September 8.

By Ed L. Spooner, Detroit. America's first cycle car contest is scheduled to start from Chicago September 8, and will take part in the Around-Lake-Michigan Tour of the Chicago Motor club in fact, a cycle car division of that tour, with special prizes and special rules created for that particular division.

Charles P. Root, who is chairman of the contest, based on the Chicago organization, believes that it is now time to introduce the new sport and, what is more, he believes that many machines of the new sort will be entered, and what is more, that they will come from all over the country.

The road to be followed is no sinuosity for a tourist car, as was demonstrated last year, but Chairman Root, in a letter to the Automobile department of the Free Press, points to the fact that much good road work has been accomplished in the northern part of the state.

The Cadillac dealers are convinced that the season just opening will be the most successful in the history of their concern and that, as heretofore each year, there will not be enough cars to fill the demand.

persons of Michigan since last fall, much of it due to the fact that the road is in the hands of the forest and lumber camps.

One will have no difficulty. He says that most cycle cars have little more difficulty on the hard roads for the reason that the wheels run in the rut and the other in the path made by the horses of single rigs in the center.

The route of the tour this year does not include Grand Rapids, as last year, and the tourists will travel along the Lake Michigan shores all through the state, not turning away from the shores at Muskegon, as last year, to reach Grand Rapids.

The invitation which was extended to the Chicago Motor club to make Detroit a part of the route and a night stop is being considered, but it is highly improbable that it will be accepted unless the Wolverine Automobile club extends a hearty invitation and promises some entries for the contest.

Run to Detroit Last Year. The club made Detroit its destination for the first time in several years ago, but the city showed little enthusiasm at that time and for that reason may lose the honor of being a cycle car run. The proposal was made to Mr. Root to bring the run across Michigan from Adrian to Bay City over the road recently built through the progressiveness of that section of the country, and from Bay City through Saginaw and Flint to Detroit and from this city through Ypsilanti and Waukegan to the New York to Chicago road.

This matter is to be taken up by the committee of the club within the near future, and providing action is taken by the Wolverine Automobile club, it may be acted upon favorably.

Fred Tont, of the Tont Car company, of Indianapolis, who is about to place on the market a 1913 car, has the best wishes of every Indianapolis maker and a great future for his product, owing to the fact that he is not in a competitive field in his district.

Much of the material for the Tont production is being obtained in Detroit, which requires his presence in the city a great portion of his time.

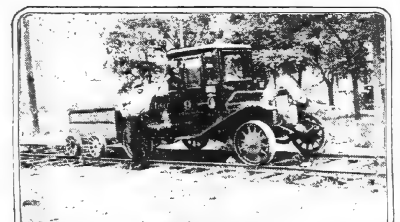

Twenty thousand dollars was the purse for the great Los Angeles to Sacramento race recently run, according to Roger B. Searn, Federal distributor, who was in Detroit. Of this sum all but a small amount was raised by Los Angeles dealers, and when this amount failed to come through, the race was charged to pass through Stockton to Sacramento, where the event finished. Sacramento adding $15,000 to the purse.

The invitation which was extended to the Chicago Motor club to make Detroit a part of the route and a night stop is being considered, but it is highly improbable that it will be accepted unless the Wolverine Automobile club extends a hearty invitation and promises some entries for the contest.

Buick Motor Car Made Into A Railroad Mail Carrier

BUICK MOTOR CAR. Probable among the most unique (yet which has proven to be a very practical) idea is the railroad mail motor car, recently placed in service by the Virginia Railway of Monticome, Va.

The Buick motor car, which is a 1913 model, is a four-door car with a double transmission, which allows the car to be driven just as fast as a double transmission car, as it is a four-door car.

Locomotive Cost System For Operation of Five-Ton Trucks Simple, Accurate

Cost-keeping reduced to its lowest terms, the "Locomotive" cost system, removed from computing the cost of operating a 5-ton truck, electrical work, reduced to the vanishing point, and yet an absolutely accurate account of the cost of operating 5-ton trucks that is what the Locomotive Company presents in its simplified cost system.

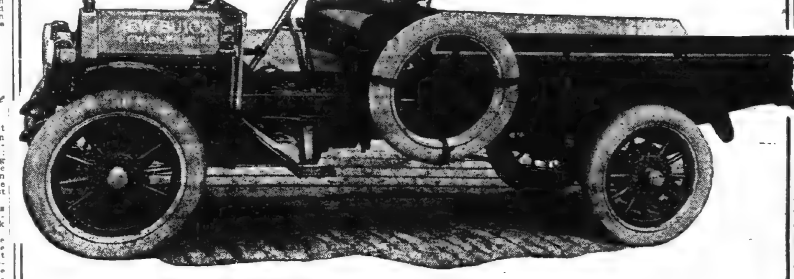

In a single sentence, this system is made up of two units. One, the driver's daily report and the other, a book in which this report is transcribed.

At the end of each day, the driver makes up a report of the truck's operation, and this report is transcribed into the book. The book is then used to compute the cost of operating the truck.

The Locomotive Company presents in its simplified cost system, a system that is simple, accurate, and easy to use.

4,000 DEALERS will handle Maxwell Motor Cars for the season of 1914. Season dated from August first—deliveries at new prices now being made.

THAT'S OUR ANSWER to all they said. That tells the story. What is it they say about "he who laughs last?"

MAXWELL CARS WILL DOMINATE the trade for 1914 in the three big classes which command the greatest popularity.

THE FULL SIGNIFICANCE of the line "4,000 dealers," may not have occurred to you. It means, in a word, that we not only have the cars the connoisseurs desire, but that we are now ready to manufacture them in numbers sufficient to supply the insistent demand.

YOUR DEALER SEEMS TO HAVE a kind of sixth sense when it comes to picking the winner in the selling field from season to season.

HE KNOWS: He has his finger on the pulse of the buyer, his eyes on the makers all the time. And he seldom guesses wrong. The successful dealer never—that's why he succeeds.

THIS IS A FAST-MOVING, quick-forgetting business. Watching it is like looking thru a kaleidoscope. It is ever changing.

THE DEALER KNOWS—and you can't go wrong by following his lead for, you see, he is looking for the same things you are seeking—only from a different angle.

HE WANTS CARS that sell themselves. You never knew a dealer to go gunning for trouble, did you? Or looking for hard work?

NOT HE. HE FOLLOWS THE TREND of fashion in design, the progress of the science of metallurgy and manufacture. And when he sees a concern leading in these, he goes hot-foot after that line of cars.

WE HAVE CONCENTRATED our tremendous factory facilities; re-arranged and re-equipped the plants for economical production of automobiles in large quantities.

AND EACH MODEL WILL dominate its class—because a better car—better material, better workmanship and better finish for the same or less money.

DO YOU WONDER dealers are clamoring for the Maxwell line for 1914? They would belie their reputation for astuteness if they didn't.

WHY, LAST WEEK we shipped the first 50 cars of the Maxwell "25" model to 50 points in the United States, and invited all dealers to come and see and try out this wonderful car.

THEY CAME, they saw and the new "25" Maxwell conquered. It was great to see their enthusiasm when the car, carrying five dealers aggregating 1010 pounds, sped up "Abbey Hill"—the steepest grade on Manhattan and a double-S turn—on high gear as if it were on the level.

OVER AND OVER AGAIN they put the car to the test—climbing the hill at all speeds down to 8 miles per hour on high gear—just a "pullin'" all the time.

BUT WE ARE DIGRESSING—so enthusiastic about that wonderful "25" we forgot our text for the moment. Let's discuss the entire line—for there isn't a dead one in it—no model that is a load on the others. Each is supreme in its class.

TAKE THE "50-6" for example—now thoroughly tried and proven. 1913 output all sold. Deliveries of 1914 model—left-hand drive with right side drive optional—begin August 15th.

1914 PRICE is $1975.

THERE'S A LINE that will create consternation in the trade. They all expected it would be $2,400—in fact we said so. That was the price we had decided on, but—

PERHAPS, YOU'VE NOTICED there's a wicked war on for supremacy in this class of car. We concluded that, so long as other makers had started it we would give them a real six at a real price and see how far they can go. Watch it—it will be interesting—and the buyer will be the beneficiary.

IT WILL BE UP TO makers of $3,500—$4,000, yes, and $5,000 sizes to demonstrate wherein they give the difference in value.

AND WHAT ABOUT the manufacturer who stuck to fours for one season too long? Having himself failed to progress he would stop all progress. He would sweep back the sea with his tiny whisk broom! He protests that folk will still pay $2,000 for fours—and convinces no one but himself.

IN SEVEN PASSENGER CARS the six is now supreme. It is not coming; it is here.

THEN THE MAXWELL "35"—This is, we firmly believe, the greatest car ever made in the so-called intermediate price class—a big five passenger car for that great class of buyer who wants all there is of comfort and power, at a price he can afford.

1914 PRICE IS $1085 without and $1225 with electric starter and lights. Equal this if you can—in a car of anywhere near the quality.

BLOC-CAST MOTOR—fourth year unchanged. A motor such as you can't surpass in a $2000 car. And all other features equally excellent. This car will lead—distance all others in its class, which is to say anything under $1500.

AND FINALLY THE "25"—the car the trade has been talking about, looking for, waiting for.

IT IS HERE—WE ARE DELIVERING—and while we may not hope to supply all who want them, we will be able to appose 30,000 buyers during the next twelve months.

YOUR ENTHUSIASM will know no bounds when you see and ride in this "25."

THIS IS A REAL AUTOMOBILE—full 25 horsepower, bloc cast motor; 103" wheel base; same size tires all around, 30 x 3 3/4; full five passenger body; 3 speed selective transmission; cone clutch; worm and sector steering gear; left-hand drive; center control; magneto—all the features of a high priced car.

AND AT A PRICE no other maker has ever before been able to produce such a car—$750 plus the freight.

THE RESULT OF MORE concentrated experience, engineering and metallurgical knowledge, manufacturing skill and financial resources than any other, this car justifies our efforts and fulfills our fondest hopes.

IT WAS DESIGNED to meet the ideas and the needs of tens of thousands of discriminating buyers—not beginners but experienced motorists—who must consult the purse and yet who detest and decline to wear a uniform and are willing to pay a little more for a car that is a lot better.

WE WILL BUILD 30,000 of this model; 12,000 of the "35" and 2,000 to 3,000 of the Maxwell 50-6 in the next twelve months.

THAT'S SECOND LARGEST in the world—and still we are not satisfied. Watch the Maxwells.

A SERIES OF THRILLING STORIES OF EARLY WESTERN MINING DAYS

The Mariposa War

THEY were both miners and owned claims on the same ground, but were neither friends nor well acquainted; otherwise they probably would have been in Mariposa, Pa., to pass down in district legend, even though it escaped the light of school histories. But there was a war as any man in Mariposa well testified.

Bill Thompson stood six feet three in his stocking feet and wasn't given to much conversation. He owned Number Four on Mariposa, had good ground, and worked it well. Jim Tibbets owned Number Two on the same creek, but didn't work it, save for assessment, because he had another good piece of ground across the low divide on Goldpan, where he held forth. They were about the same age, and neither of them had any bad habits—that is, so far as any one in the camp ever knew. Maybe this was one reason why they weren't well known. A man has to have some bad habits in order to be what is generally called "popular."

The war was caused by two women, a building and a claim. The claim was Number Three on Mariposa, which stood between their stake lines, and had once been owned and worked by Old Bill Banks. Old Bill had a good piece of ground, a water right, and a hydraulic plant. Being a man who preferred telling about what he was going to do in preference to knowing what he had done, he got just about that far and quit. He died. His heirs put Number Three in the hands of an eastern agent, who has since changed his home address, and perhaps his name. Anyhow, it's a certainty he never came West, where several of the boys wanted to meet him and give him a reception. It was kind of reception it would be, and he wasn't anxious.

One noon when the sun was shining, in the summertime, and dust was on the trails, the stage from Burdick came rattling along and dumped out a woman together with several boxes and bundles, and she wasn't the least bit out of breath. She didn't look as if she cared for dancing. She talked for a minute with the proprietor of the Palace Hotel, which really wasn't a palace, and he called Bill Thompson over from where he had been throwing supplies on the back of a mountain backboard he always had when getting out a cut.

"Bill," he said, "this is Mrs. E. Merced Brown. She's bought Number Three on Mariposa, and is going to be a neighbor of yours. Can't you give her a lift up the gulch?"

Bill wasn't much of a ladies' man, and at first didn't like the job; but she put cut her hand and gave him one of those smiles that a woman never learns until she is at least thirty years old, and from that minute she owned both Bill and the backboard. Being a man who didn't talk much, he scratched his head and said:

"Sure!" Then he lugged her stuff over and lashed it on top of a sack of flour and side of bacon, and was glad she was going along. That was how Mrs. Merced came.

They drove away out through the shacks and tents and over the river into the canon, and she talked and Bill said, "Sho" or "Do tell," or anything else in the way of conversation that seemed polite and interesting; and before they had driven two miles he learned that she had sunk all her money in buying Number Three, had read in the Weekly Woman's Advertiser, published at Page Center, Iowa, of how women made the best miners in the world, and so had come West to make her fortune. She was willing to stay till she made it, even if it did take a couple of months. Bill Thompson probably didn't know how long, anyway. He didn't tell her he had been mining for twenty years, and hadn't made it yet. That would have discouraged her. He merely grinned.

They drove away past the flats, and

There came a day, as before, when the stage came up with a jerk before the Palace Hotel, and as if in repulsion, dumped out another woman who didn't have much luggage and was not alone. She was accompanied by about the ugliest brute bulldog that ever came west of the Rockies. She stepped out with a self-confident air, glowered unabashed at the men who gaped at her, and said to the proprietor of the Palace:

"Here, you! Hook onto them things and look lively! Jim Mrs. Mirandy Tibbets, and I've bought Number Three gold mine on a river called the Mariposa. Take them three lousy till I and someone who ain't too lazy to take me up my property."

She was business, all right, and she knew women's rights and Mrs. Pinkham from A to Z. She made folks step around lively, and partly because he was afraid of her, and partly because he wanted to work the land-lord "labeled her off" on Jim Tibbets. She started in to boss Jim from the minute she met him, but he wasn't the kind to be bossed. He sized her up critically, and decided, as he afterward said, that if she were "well halter-broke and taught not to tangle her picket-ropes, she wouldn't be a bad one to own."

He called her down.

"Look here, Mrs. Mirandy," he said, with his soft drawl, "I don't know nuthin' about women's rights, nor none of them things, so don't give me none of your soft soap 'bout 'em. You ain't got no soft soap 'bout 'em, you know. There's a woman a-workin' Number Three now, an' she says she owns it. If you've got the goods, it's yours. If you ain't, you've been humbugged, an' somebody's peddled you a brick. Now, let's get down to business."

That took her down some. She looked

"Don't pay no attention to him," she said. "You just take me back to town where I can get at court, an' I'll show him something. I'll have the law on him—that's what I will."

And Jim, being under her arms, and a little surprised, and a little slow, allowed himself to be tolled off to the backboard and back to camp.

As the backboard went wobbling off down the trail in a cloud of dust, Bill's big face relaxed, and he turned toward the weeping girl in the doorway.

"Emmerdy," he said, and his voice was husky, "it ain't true, is it, that this woman beat you to it? You have got real papers, ain't you? You didn't let nobody skin you, did you? I ain't wantin' to do nuthin' that ain't on the square. If you've got dockments it's all well and good; but if you ain't, I'm ready to fight for you anyhow, an' if they clean you out they'll have to take me in, too."

And then he tried to comfort her while she sobbed against his shoulder and assured him that she had the papers, and that if there was any mistake she didn't know what it could be.

That night Doc, swearing alternately at his rheumatism, woman, in general, and his horse, rode to Burdick, where he sent a telegram East to the missing deeds. Then he whipped a somewhat coarse fester, who wanted to know how the "petticoat" was that "bossed the work on Mariposa."

Bill went into the cabin so full of trouble that he couldn't sleep, and down in the camp Jim was entertained by Mrs. Tibbets until he was ready to die for her, if it came to a question of right and title.

Two days' armistice went by, and Bill Doc awaiting events and Jim parsing his head over the advice of lawyers, who always wanted a little further time to look into the case, and used Latin while, and decided to talk to his protégé. She had taken to tears by this time, and that strengthened his resolution. He went to bed resolved that on the morrow he would end the law's delay, conduct the affair according to his own code, and force a settlement.

It was barely daylight when he rode up the Mariposa trail, followed by the brute bulldog, which had adopted him as a master and seemed pleased with the new partnership. They came to the cabin first and found Doc with the stream working.

It's possible that there would have been an arbitration had not Doc been so peculiar. He pretended not to see Jim, but spotted the bulldog and switched the lever. There was one frightened yelp, and for one quick instant the wall filled with water and mud. The bull landed about 50 feet up the bank, caught his breath, tucked his tail between his legs, and made a speed record for the camp.

But in the meantime things were doing with Jim and Doc.

Jim unlimbered a Colt's antique but trustworthy pattern, and his first shot brought Doc into the air sprawled out and quiet. The report had barely died away when there came another "Bang" from up the gulch, where Bill had appeared on the scene. Jim left his left arm raised and dropped to cover up. He could see where the shot came from. Then the two combatants arose and blazed away at each other, but with bad aim because between them was a sheet of spraying water where the hydraulic was playing silver sheets aimlessly into the air, heedless of the part it was taking in the little war.

Jim soon realized that he had made one mistake, that of not coming prepared for a long-range duel with no other ammunition than the cartridges in his gun. As his gun hot blasted out, he saw his antagonist still unharmed, but cursed his luck and turned back down the trail, knowing that in a mere physical contest he would be no match for that giant above.

It was well along in the afternoon when the officer arrived with a posse sufficient to make it interesting for the most desperate man in the range, and by his side triumphantly rode Jim Tibbets, with his arm in a sling. Bill grinned maliciously at this evidence of his marksmanship, and with a nonchalant air chewed a pipe-stem as the posse came to a halt in front of the cabin.

"Bill," the sheriff opened. "I think you're on the wrong trail. I've come up here with papers from the court, and if you want to see if I've got the deed given this Number Three to the Widder Tibbets. Guess you'll have to hike!"

Bill's expression of confidence waned, and he thought of his gun.

"Deeds, deeds," he growled, in a surprised tone. "If you've got a deed, Hank, I'd like to see it. We've got one, too."

It was the officer's turn to be surprised. They hesitated, dismounted, and held a confab wherein the two documents were compared and found to have been issued on the same date and recorded in two different places at the same hour.

Matters were growing complicated. Jim and Bill had nothing to say, and the sheriff was puzzled. He looked at the two papers again and softly swore at the agent who had sold the property twice for the same amounts of money, and with different sets of witnesses. It was too much for him.

"I reckon there ain't nuthin' to do but to take both these documents back to the court," he finally said, "but I don't think it's a square deal for you to keep your giant's A-squard on the bank. Bill, until it's settled."

Bill was about to explain that there wasn't any power on earth that he knew of that would keep him from turning on the stream each day as long as he bossed the mine for Emmerdy, but she herself, while trembling, and wanting to avoid trouble, silenced him, and assured the sheriff the papers were real.

Then the officers went away.

It was up to the law now, the thing that took away property by court action, understandable, and always left people poorer than when they started along its devious trails; but there was nothing else for it. The next day found a big miner in the camp, seeking legal advice for Emmerdy and burdened with forebodings and gloom. Like Jim, he turned homeward after his errand.

It was dusk when Bill rode up to the (Copyright, 1912, Century Syndicate.)

"EMMERDY," HE SAID, AND HIS VOICE WAS HUSKY. "IT AIN'T TRUE, IS IT?"

at Jim for a minute, as if she thought of neral, but I reckon this girl ain't got no kicking the dog on him, but he didn't papers, and Mrs. Tibbets has. So this book the kind to be afraid. They stared into each other's eyes for about a moment, and from then on she belonged to James Tibbets. She was a widow, and because Emmerdy's word had been doubted, which was beyond endurance Big as he was, and therefore, according to the rules of rise, good-natured, he flashed out, like a piece of fuse that has been overdriven.

"Got to go, has she? Well, not while I'm here, my bucko. She don't go till I say so, an' I ain't done none so much talkin' about it yet. I ain't a-biddin' no trouble, but it's a-goin' to take an officer to show me why she's got to go off Number Three."

He advanced as he talked until he faced Jim, who stood his ground squarely and unafraid. It's probable that war would have broken out then had not Mrs. Mirandy, with good judgment, swooped down on Jim, pinioned his arms, and called a halt.

terms which he couldn't understand. The next day he took a trip to his own claim, but instead of working, crawled up on the ridge to see what war doing on Mariposa. Everything was as usual, the trees standing silent, the shadows crawling with regularity along the canon wall, and the big giant down below rippling and tearing away at the earth. This last was too much. Jim hurried back across the divide and then turned to the camp, where on the following day he expostulated with the lawyers.

"Easy, easy," argued the lawyer.

"Easy be damned! Can't you see they're a-workin' the mine all the time, and a-goin' out pay while you're cadgin' around here and doin' nuthin'?"

Then he tore madly out of the shanty, walked gloomily around the camp for a cabin door on Number Three with the determination to break the news as gently as possible; and at about the same time Jim Tibbets was explaining his forebodings to the widow in the camp below.

There came several days of waiting until every one in the camp making bets as to which one of the combatants would win out at the next encounter, and all expectant and argumentative.

The result of this was that pretty nearly every man in Mariposa had taken sides, and was ready if it came to a final settlement to initiate active in the war. Symonides were about evenly divided, and things were quiet at night because nearly all the partisans were busily engaged in the back ends of their cabins cleaning up their weapons. It promised to be warm.

Both Jim and the widow had disappeared from the rude public gaze, and were said to have gone to Burdick to consult with the sheriff. Bill was reported to be too busy nursing Doc and guarding Number Three to appear in the camp; and only the bulldog was left to howl dully in an improved kennel until his mistress should call for him.

The break came unexpectedly. A man on horseback, pulled up the Bill Emmerdy faction, paraded one afternoon in front of Bill's cabin and hailed. Bill came to the door and peered out, his fingers clutched on a rifle barrel behind the door until he could recognize the character of reception awaiting him.

"Bill," the rider said, throwing one leg over the pommel of his saddle and dexterously rolling a cigarette. "Jim's back from up at Burdick, but he ain't got nuthin' to say. He felt naturally that he was in the wrong, and thought of his'n, acted grouchy as usual, and pulled out with her for his claim over on Goldpan."

Yes, said Bill, emerging from the door and looking disconsolately at his friend.

"Thought I'd better come by an' tell you, so's you can keep on the lookout. No tellin' what'll happen next, now them lawyers is fightin'."

"Lawyers fightin' now?"

"Humph! Yes!"

"You see, Number Three's a good piece of ground, an' they katterlate passed it down to Doc, who was a partner in it. I've got a notion in somewhere when it gets to trial."

"Thanks, pal." And the door shut with a bang. This was the limit. Bill came cautiously down into the flat, walked up to the wall where he had a solution which resulted in a trip to camp by the now-recovered Doc on the following morning.

It was late on the following evening when Bill, contented and whistling, his mind made up, crashed through the brush on the hillside of Goldpan, and came cautiously down into the flat in front of Jim's cabin. He was just at the frontier, and being on an errand of peace, came unarmed and ostentatiously whistling and swinging his idle chewed a pipe-stem as the posse came to a halt in front of the cabin.

Jim saw him, made a quick reach for his gun, and then slowly dropped his fingers away at the evident signs of amity. He advanced to meet his enemy, and waited quietly for him to approach within speaking distance.

"Hello, there, Jim," said Bill, and with an expression of confidence waned, continued: "I've got no shoonin' iron on my belt and no ill will in my head. I've come to be friends with you, Jim, if you'll let me."

It came to tell you I don't want the Number Three if I've got to fight for it. You can tell the wider she can have it. Emmerdy nor me ain't goin' to fight for it no more, and we don't want to be bad friends with either you or Mrs. Tibbets."

A slow grin overspread Jim's face. The wider don't want it, either, Bill. I'm mighty glad you come over. Somebody was bunked by that peaky at the agent who had sold the property twice for the same amounts of money, and with different sets of witnesses. We went up to Burdick and got married, and she don't have to have Number Three so long's I've got a pretty nice patch of ground myself."

Then they laughed together, slapped each other on the back, and forthwith proceeded to talk it over with Mirandy.

That was the war on Mariposa ended. There were two cabins on Number Three now, and any night you ride by there you can see two fellows smoking peacefully on the same bench, partisans in this claim and several others, while a big brute bulldog sleeps around their feet or is wooled about by a very rheumatism and standstill loyalty by Emmerdy.

And the lawyers? Well, they didn't get the fees they expected and are the only enemies left.

August Furniture Sale

Prices that Prove the Economy of Buying Your Furniture Now. Note these Unusual Values

The August Furniture Sale has been broadly planned. It is not a sale of a few odd pieces that we want to sell, but a wide merchandising movement embracing 1st—Every stick of our regular furniture in our warehouses and on our floors.

2nd—Special purchases from manufacturers who supply us regularly.

The reductions throughout range from 10 per cent to 50 per cent; the average savings are about $20 in every $100 spent.

The furniture that bears the least reductions—10 to 20 per cent—are the staple lines and complete stocks which we carry all the time.

The furniture that bears the biggest reductions—25 per cent, 30 per cent, 40 per cent, and even 50 per cent—is the broken stocks, odd pieces, discontinued patterns of our own and those we have acquired by special purchase from the manufacturers. Though necessarily abbreviated, the appended lists are typical of the reductions throughout:

THE CADILLAC

Again Proves its Right to be called the
"Leading American Motor Car"

Each year since 1902, when the first Cadillac was produced, the world has depended on the Cadillac for the real progress in motor car development.

Each year the world has waited eagerly to see what the Cadillac would do, what improvements it would offer—

And each year the Cadillac has far exceeded their expectations.

So, in this new car, the 1914 model, we offer a positive revelation in motor car luxury. There is not only the Cadillac that you know backed by over 55,000 owners, but numerous improvements which mean

A New Quality of Luxury
A New Element of Efficiency
A New Source of Economy

The Cadillac-DeLo electrical system of automatic cranking, lighting and ignition—the first practical system made and first introduced by us—has, after experience with it on 47,000 Cadillacs, been still further improved and simplified and the slight attention required from the user materially reduced.

The carburetor has been improved and its well-known efficiency and economy increased. It is hot-water jacketed and electrically heated to facilitate starting in the coldest weather.

The rear springs are six inches longer.

Body designs are newer and handsomer.

Front-seat passengers may enter and leave the car at either side.

These and many other refinements of essential details make for a more wonderful, a more beautiful, a more dependable Cadillac and serve to more firmly establish its position as "America's Leading Motor Car."

And the Principal Contributing Factor—The Two-Speed Direct Drive Axle—Is Here Described In Detail

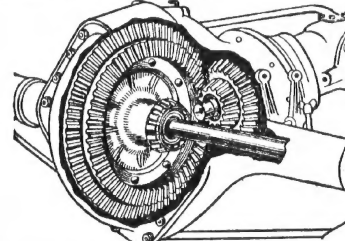

In this new axle the Cadillac Company once more gives evidence of its leadership in motor car development and motor car progress.

The advantages of this axle do not lie in its being particularly an improvement so far as its functions as an axle are concerned, but rather in the manifold advantages attained in other directions through the medium of the axle.

In place of the single level piston and single level driving gear common to ordinary construction, there are two level pistons and two level driving gears. This affords two different gear ratios, each driving direct from the engine to the axle without intermediate gearing.

The usual single direct gear ratio runs from about 2.5 to 1 down to 1 according to the car. Any single gear ratio is necessarily what it is because a single gear ratio must be, or should be, the particular one which is best adapted for all around general use.

No one single gear ratio can possibly be just right for all speeds and for all conditions. No one single gear ratio can possibly be just right for all speeds and for all conditions. But by using two direct gear ratios we have exactly doubled the means for getting the most economical and efficient application of power developed by the engine to the driving of the car.

In the new Cadillac axle we have, as before stated, two direct drive gear ratios. The low direct drive gear, which is 2.5 to 1, is especially adapted for city driving, where starting, stopping and slowing down are frequent and where cautious operation is necessary. The high direct drive gear ratio, which is 2.5 to 1, is of special advantage where speeds of about 16 miles or more per hour are permissible and desirable.

The change from one gear ratio to the other is made by means of a simple, convenient electric switch.

The advantages of the high direct drive gear ratio lie primarily in the fact that with it, any given speed of the engine produces an increase of about 43 per cent in the speed of the car. For example, at an engine speed of 800 revolutions per minute, with the low direct gear engaged, the car will travel approximately 21 miles per hour; while on the high direct gear it will travel approximately 30 miles per hour with no increase in engine speed.

This great increase in car speed in its relation to engine speed accomplishes a number of desirable things. Among these is a decrease in gasoline consumption for a given mileage. This is due to the fact that with the engine turning over slowly, comparatively speaking, a given quantity of gas is utilized to greater advantage and generates more wheel power than with the engine turning over more rapidly. Friction also is materially reduced by reason of the parts operating more slowly and this, too, is a factor in reducing gasoline consumption when driving on the high gear.

Another great advantage is that with this direct drive high gear ratio, there is obtained an extraordinarily luxurious smoothness in running, together with a marked quietness and a comparatively freedom from the vibration which to a greater or less extent, is ever present when traveling at high speed with a low gear ratio.

In attaining these much desired qualities, instead of adding complications to the power plant which make for greater fuel consumption and for greater upkeep expense, they have been attained by methods which are strikingly the reverse, viz., by methods which lessen the fuel consumption, methods which decrease friction with its resulting wear and methods which make for longer life, together with an appreciable decrease in the cost of operation and maintenance.

REVIEW OF THE WEEK IN AMERICAN MARKETS

New Orleans, August 19, 1900.

Dullest Day in Stock Market for Past 16 Years—There Was Also Apathy in Bond

record for midsummer dullness was broken at the stock exchange today as futures for wheat, corn and soybeans advanced 1 1/2, 1 1/2 and 1 1/2 cents, respectively, to 1 1/2, 1 1/2 and 1 1/2 cents, compared with 64,000 shares on July 1 last. The market was without its usual guidance from the government, which has frequent holidays and continental exchanges were lifeless.

Wheat was the most interesting news contained in dispatches from western and southern points to the effect that the crop was well advanced and was helping the movement of crops was meeting with favor. Wheat and corn were the main crops of the southwest, unbroken drought in the southwest although welcome rain from the southwest was reported in the western mixed areas, but the tendency was toward increased quiet in many areas of trade.

In the early dealings, leaders like United States, American and Canadian Reading and Canadian Pacific all fell in substantial fractions. Recoveries were established in the afternoon, but the Pacific more than regaining its loss. Steel was the only issue which had

The independent steel companies, however, are not satisfied with the government's offer for several weeks and last week was said to be in the process of making a counterproposal in July. The smallest of the companies, the American Bridge Co., of Pittsburgh, had negotiated 100,000 tons and about $200 million for the steel to be used in the shipbuilding program. The other steel companies had negotiated larger amounts. The American Bridge Co. had offered to supply 100,000 tons, while the other companies had offered to supply 150,000 tons.
